

Steps for IELTS Process Charts

Write the Paraphrase 写释义

To write the paraphrase, repeat whatever the statement from the question in your own words.

Example:

Rubric: The diagram below shows the process of transporting crude oil and petrol to your local petrol station.

Starting	Presentation type	Verb	Description
The supplied	process diagram, diagram, pictures, illustrations	reveal(s), outline(s), explain(s)	how the...

Paraphrased: The supplied pictures reveal how the crude oil and petrol are transported to your neighborhood petrol station. adj. 天然的, 粗糙的

Write the Overview

An overview is a general description of the IELTS process chart that doesn't mention any specific details. Mention the 3 main stages or the total number of stages.

Unique Overview Formula for IELTS Process Charts

Overview = Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that there are + (number of stages) + beginning with + followed by + and finishing with

For example;

Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that there are 3 main stages, beginning with the collection and initial treatment of the beans, followed by transportation, and finishing with the final processing in a factory.

Process diagram connectors:

The first step/To begin,

Following this,

next

then

After (that)

Before + verb-ing (means that you will be mentioning a later stage before an earlier stage)

Example: Before being dried in the oven, the mixture is turned into...

Subsequently, / In the subsequent stage, 随后, 在随后的阶段

In the final stage/Finally,

Varying your language:

a. Use noun from the diagram as your verbs

Ex: the noun in stage 7 is PACKAGING so

Finally, the bricks are packed.....

b. once, when, after + present perfect → has gone.

Ex: The tea is packed into boxes and then the boxes are loaded onto a lorry.

Once the tea has been packed into the boxes, the boxes are then loaded onto a lorry.

c. after + verb-ing + past participle

Ex: The boxes of tea are taken to supermarket and then they are sold to customers.

After being taken to supermarkets, the boxes of tea are then sold to customers.

To extend and improve answers: 扩展和改进

For example: The tea is put on the ground under the sun, so that they can be dried.

a. describe what happen

The tea is put on the ground

b. add some extra details

under the sun,

c. explain why it happens

so that they can be dried.

IELTS Writing Task 1 Process Diagram Tips

A. Passive voice

被动态

While reporting on processes, it is more appropriate to emphasize the action itself rather than whoever is doing the action by using the passive voice. The subject who performs the action is irrelevant in sentences in the passive voice, and the action is highlighted.

Structures for passive voice

Tense	Passive structure
Present simple passive	Structure: is/am/are + past participle Example: Turbine is rotated by the force of water....

MODEL Answer

Question: The process diagram details the steps by which liquid chocolate is produced from cocoa beans.

1. 液体巧克力 被生产的

说明

转化

The supplied illustrations explain the process of converting cocoa beans into liquid chocolate.

Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that there are three main stages in this combination of a man-made and natural process, beginning with the collection and initial treatment of the beans, followed by transportation, and finishing with the processing in a factory.

初始

The cacao ^{成熟} tree is ^{收获} grown in South America, ^{裂开} Africa and Indonesia and the pods are ripe for harvest when they turn red. The pods are then split open and the white cocoa beans are fermented under leaves before being left in the sun to dry. In the subsequent stage, they are placed in large sacks and sent by either train or truck to factories for further preparations.

随后的阶段

In the factory, the beans are roasted at 350 degrees Celsius prior to being crushed in a grinder so that the outer shell can be separated out. The final step involves taking the inner part of the bean from the last step and pressing it into liquid chocolate. 173 words

Steps for High Task 1 Map Scores

List each similarity and difference under the following categories before starting to write;

1. Same

3. Gone (replaced by)

2. Changed

4. New

As you write the answer, cross off each similarity and difference as you describe it.

Write the Paraphrase

To write the paraphrase, repeat whatever the statement from the question in your own words.

Example:

Rubric: The maps below show the center of a small town as it was in 1962 and as it is now.

Starting	Presentation type	Verb	Description
The supplied	maps, pictures	reveal, explain, illustrate	the changes in... /// how...

Paraphrased: The supplied maps reveal the changes in the town center between 1962 and today.

The supplied maps reveal how the town center has have changed between 1962 and today.

Writing the Overview

An overview is a general description of the maps with no specific information.

Overview:

Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that the city has expanded to become considerably more residential and accessible, with the notable additions of a long lake and nearby business district.

General Description of the Changes

To describe the general changes, we can say things like;

The area was completely transformed.....

There are more industrial/residential/commercial/retail buildings.....

There are fewer industrial/residential/commercial/retail buildings.....

There are more amenities/facilities or There are fewer amenities/facilities

For Example: Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that the island was completely transformed with the addition of a hotel and a pier; however, the eastern part of the island appears to have been left undeveloped.

Structure for Map Task 1

Introduction - by paraphrasing the task rubric

Ex: The supplied three maps illustrate how Meadowside village have developed from 1962 to the present.

Overview - show the main changes

Ex: Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that Stokeford village was gradually transformed from a small rural village into a large residential area.

Body 1 - show what improvements / changes is the biggest / notable

Ex: One interesting development is that a new tram line has been built on the right-hand side of the town in 2000 in order to connect the university with the town center.

Body 2 - show what other improvements / changes are apparent

Ex: Another striking change is that the old market in the west of the city has been knocked down to make way for new shops.

VOCABULARY USAGE FOR MAPS

Vocabulary to describe changes:

Expanding 扩大	Removing 移除	Additions 增加	Change into something
• Enlarged • Expanded • Extended • Made bigger • Developed	• Demolished • Knocked down • Pulled down • Removed • Torn down 被拆了. • Cut down (trees)	• Constructed • Built • Erected • Introduced • Added • Planted (forests, trees) • Opened up (facilities)	• Converted • Redeveloped • Replaced • Made into • Modernised • Renovated

Additional Vocabulary

- across, across from, under, over, inside, beside, on top of
- adjacent, opposite, next to
- midpoint, halfway, in the middle
- exterior
- edge, diagonal
- to the right, to the left
- situated, located
- changed to, converted to, gave way to
- north ↑, south ↓, east →, west ←
- along, through, as far as
- intersection, overlapping
- parallel to, perpendicular to
- in front of the, behind the
- to the north, to the east
- on the right-hand side →, on the left-hand side ←
- northern, southern, eastern, western

How to describe a map in IELTS Writing Task 1

A. IDENTIFYING CHANGES IN MAPS

The following are the changes that can occur between maps.

1. addition - new structure not present in the old map may be seen in the next map; construction of a new feature
2. removal - old structures may be demolished and erased from the map
3. expansion - some items may be extended to make them bigger
4. downsizing - opposite to expansion, some structures may be reduced in size when comparing two maps.
5. replacement - on occasions, you will notice that some features from the older map may be absent from the newer one with some other feature in its place
6. shifting - items can also be moved from one location in the map to another.

B. LOCATING PLACES IN MAPS

Describing the alterations and modifications in the maps is one aspect, but we also need to give details of where those changes have occurred.

1. top / bottom, ← left / right → = if directions have not been given, then mention whether the places in the map are at the top or at the bottom OR are on the left-hand side or the right-hand side.
2. beside = when two items are very close to each other, they can be said to be beside each other. Apart from beside, we can also use words like alongside, next to, nearby, or adjacent to.
3. opposite = places which are facing each other can be said to be opposite or in front of each other.
4. north ↑ / south ↓ / east → / west ← / northeast / southeast / northwest / southwest = some maps include a compass rose. In such cases, locate places using directions instead of simply top, bottom, left, or right. Sometimes only one direction, usually North, is given. You have to work out the other directions by yourself.

GRAMMAR USAGE FOR MAPS

It is advisable you use passive voices in the perfect aspect of tenses to comment on the changes in the maps.

a. If the maps are of a past date, use the past perfect passive form.

Structure	Example Sentence
subject + had been + past participle	1. The health post had been replaced by a hospital. 2. The area for farming had been decreased .

b. If the maps set out the changes until today, then use the present perfect passive form.

Structure	Example Sentence
subject + has/have + been + past participle	1. The highway, which goes from east to west, has been expanded . 2. The trees in the park have been cut down .

c. For maps which deal will future changes, apply the future perfect passive form.

Structure	Example Sentence
subject + will have + been + past participle	1. The street will have been elongated in the future. 2. A new shopping center will have been built in the town center.

MODEL ANSWER grammar=present simple/present perfect simple/past simple

The map describes changes to a city since 1950.

Looking from an overall perspective, it is readily apparent that the city has expanded to become considerably more residential and accessible, with the notable additions of a long lake and nearby business district.

One interesting development is that in 1950, the town's population was 20,000 and it has increased tenfold to 200,000. Previously, there was a limited area for homes, all to the north of the major road running east to west. At present, the residential area has greatly grown in all directions and there are now additional major roads in the southern half of the city.

Another striking change is that the narrow river running through the town has been dammed to create a large lake that stretches from the western to eastern edge of the residential area. The business district which was confined to the center of the map is now larger and includes the northern and southern shores of the lake.

Interestingly, the bridge over the river is now over the lake and there is another bridge near the dam in the east. Finally, there is presently a second government building to the south and the airport located to the east has more than doubled in size. (195 words) Body 3 is optional

